Ofsted and e-Safety

June 2012 the school inspection handbook now features
e-Safety as an important part of an inspection.

When making a judgement about a school, e-Safety and cyberbullying is highlighted in the Ofsted inspection in two of the four key judgements:

- the behaviour and safety of pupils at the school &
- the quality of leadership and management

The key findings of the report

In the five schools where provision for e-safety was outstanding, all the staff, including members of the wider workforce, shared responsibility for it. Assemblies, tutorial time, personal, social, health and education lessons, and an age-appropriate curriculum for e-safety all helped pupils to become safe and responsible users of new technologies.

Pupils in the schools that had 'managed' systems had better knowledge and understanding of how to stay safe than those in schools with 'locked down' systems. Pupils were more vulnerable overall when schools used locked down systems because they were not given enough opportunities to learn how to assess and manage risk for themselves.

In the outstanding schools, senior leaders, governors, staff and families worked together to develop a clear strategy for e-safety.

Policies were reviewed regularly in the light of technological developments. However, systematic review and evaluation were rare in the other schools visited.

The outstanding schools recognised that, although they had excellent relationships with families, they needed to keep developing these to continue to support e-safety at home.

Few of the schools visited made good use of the views of pupils and their parents to develop their e-safety provision.

In some schools there were weaknesses in e-safety where pupils were receiving some of their education away from the school site.

The weakest aspect of provision in the schools visited was the extent and quality of their training for staff. It did not involve all the staff and was not provided systematically. Even the schools that organised training for all their staff did not always monitor its impact systematically

Updates on the new Ofsted information on inspecting e- safety

●Indicators of inadequate practice

- Personal data is often unsecured and/or leaves school site without encryption.
- Security of passwords is ineffective, for example passwords are shared or common with all but the youngest children.
- Policies are generic and not updated.
- There is no progressive, planned e-safety education across the curriculum, for example there is only an assembly held annually.
- There is no internet filtering or monitoring.
- There is no evidence of staff training.
- Children are not aware of how to report a problem.

Updates on the new Ofsted information on inspecting e- safety

Sample questions for school leadership

- How do you ensure that all staff receive appropriate online safety training that is relevant and regularly up to date?
- What mechanisms does the school have in place to support pupils and staff facing online safety issues?
- How does the school educate and support parents and whole school community with online safety?
- Does the school have e-safety policies and acceptable use policies in place?
- How does the school know that they are clear and understood and respected by all?
- Describe how your school educates children and young people to build knowledge, skills and capability when it comes to online safety? How do you assess its effectiveness?

Dealing with an incident

REPORTING AN E-SAFETY INCIDENT - ALL SETTINGS

A CONCERN IS RAISED

Seek advice from the designated person for e-safety and/or Local Authority

Secure and preserve all evidence and hardware in the interim

This might mean isolating a machine and making sure it's not used, do not switch off the device as this might lose important evidence

Inform your senior manager and child protection staff

Make a written record of the concern and your actions

LOCAL AUTHORITY

NCC & School networks

Investigating iPads

Half term loans to try out iPads in your classroom

From Autumn Term 2 we will be loaning sets of 6 iPads to trial their usage in schools and classrooms. The iPad sets come with a range of software and all the kit you need to charge, store and project your iPad onto the whiteboard.

Project Expectations

- Participating schools must be in SLA 1
- At the end of the project we require a proforma to be completed
- Participating schools are asked to find 3 'Apps' and comment on them
