May 2012- Headteacher briefings

Northumberland
Education

FINDING PATHWAYS. ENHANCING LEARNING

How do you get the most out of the ICT resources in your school?

How do you engage children and parents and take learning to the home?

How can you change your learning culture to better reflect the 21st century?

These Headteacher roadshows are a repeat of the briefing sessions held last term which over 40 heads attended. They been incredibly popular with staff and the take up of the learning tools has been fantastic.

As a consequence, and to enable those schools who missed the first round, we are repeating them again this term to give you a second opportunity to see the fantastic range of practical solutions that will engage staff and pupils

"It's really worthwhile - it's made a huge difference to our school!"

Anne Rutherford, Head, Tweedmouth West First School.

The screenshot shows a school website interface. Four blue circular callouts are overlaid on the image, each containing a white icon and text:

- Use your website as a focus for learning. (Icon: document)
- Engage and motivate pupils. (Icon: group of children)
- Celebrate pupil work and share with parents. (Icon: star)
- Communicating with parents made easy. (Icon: envelope)

The background of the screenshot includes a calendar for January 2012, with the 25th highlighted. Other visible text on the website includes "School playground open! 24/1/2011", "Year 3 take on...", "Up coming even...", "January 27", "January 28", "Year 2 Chocolate", and "School play Wind in the willows".

These briefings are aimed at headteachers of First, Primary, Middle and Special Schools and will help you to develop your vision for how ICT can contribute to teaching and learning and raise standards.

It will explore a range of NEW exciting e-learning opportunities available to schools in Northumberland and provide practical solutions to take back to your staff and pupils.
